

The lecture focused on providing an insight into different interesting ways of developing vocabulary in English.

The department of English/General Foundation Program of Waljat College of Applied Sciences organized a Guest Lecture at the college campus on 14 February, 2018 for the students of General Foundation Program. About 80 students and a few staff members attended the session delivered by Mr. A. V Manohar.

The lecture focused on providing an insight into different interesting ways of developing vocabulary in English. Mr. A.V. Manohar stressed on the importance of willingness to learn a foreign language. He described various ways of learning the language through quotes, reading books and making use of information technology to understand and enhance vocabulary so that the students feel more confident in their day-to-day usage of the language. The lecture also focused on different methods of vocabulary enrichment which can be adapted to the class room teaching. The methods of memorizing and enhancing vocabulary as described in the lecture can be used in daily life by students to improve their vocabulary bank.

Mr. Roby Varghese, Head, Department of English/ GFP presented a certificate of appreciation and a memento to Mr. A. V. Manohar. He concluded the session by urging the students to practice the methods described by Mr. Manohar. He further stressed on the importance of regular practice to learn a foreign language.
